

Bubbles or Medals.

"Best sarsaparilla." When you think of it how contradictory that term is. For there can be only one best in anything—one best sarsaparilla, as there is one highest mountain, one longest river, one deepest ocean. And that best sarsaparilla is—? There's the rub! You can measure mountain height and ocean depth, but how test sarsaparilla? You could if you were chemists. But then do you need to test it? The World's Fair Committee tested it,—and thoroughly. They went behind the label on the bottle. What did this sarsaparilla test result in? Every make of sarsaparilla shut out of the Fair, except Ayer's. So it was that Ayer's was the only sarsaparilla admitted to the World's Fair. The committee found it the best. They had no room for anything that was not the best. And as the best, Ayer's Sarsaparilla received the medal and awards due its merits. Remember the word "best" is a bubble any breath can blow; but there are pins to prick such bubbles. Those others are blowing more "best sarsaparilla" bubbles since the World's Fair pricked the old ones. True, but Ayer's Sarsaparilla has the medal. The pin that scratches the medal proves it gold. The pin that pricks the bubble proves it wind. We point to medals, not bubbles, when we say: The best sarsaparilla is Ayer's.

BULLETIN, 75C. PER MONTH

NOMINATING CONVENTION.

declared out of order on rising to speak.

Mr. Fisher claimed the right to second the nomination, and asked to what trust or monopoly Mr.
Winston belonged. He was in a business that was open to anyone.
Mr. Sims nominated J. C.
Cluney. Seconded by Mr. Bergstrom.

Mr. Hoogs moved the nominations close. Carried.

Mr. Low renewed the motion in Mr. Winston's case, seconded by Mr. Sims.

The chair ruled the motion out of order, as the convention must be governed by its own rules.

Mr. McCandless appealed from the ruling of the chair, and the appeal was sustained, 14 to 7.

Mr. Carter thought the rule in question was too stringent, and the difficulty now present bore out his views earlier in the evening.

Mr. Bishop replied briefly.

Mr. Poopoe moved ironically that the law of the land be suspended, which required that a candidate should be requested to stand by 25 electors.

It was decided by the chairman's vote, making 16 to 15, that the rule be not suspended.

PLEDGES OF CANDIDATES.

Candidates were now called forward in the order of their nomination to speak to the platform of principles.

Mr. Atkinson would cordially support the platform to the best of his ability. He had been in the movement looking toward annexation since 1881. There was a time when they had to hold their meetings in secret to avoid interference from the authorities. He was charged with being in it for what he could get out of it, and could say that such was just the case. For he expected to get protection for their families against troubles from within and Asiatic hordes from without under that flag (pointing to the Stars and Stripes).

Mr. Robertson briefly gave his unreserved approval to the whole contents of the document, saying this was not the time for full discussion of details.

Mr. Gear was in favor of every part of the platform, and pledged himself if elected to do all in his power to carry out the principles so ably stated. Furthermore, he would pledge himself to support the candidates which they might nominate.

Mr. Naone would support the platform. He knew these islands were going to be joined to the United States. As a workingman, who worked hard for his living—having nothing from the Government—he believed that when Hawaii was joined to the United States it would be better for all of them. He was sorry Luther Wilcox was not there so that he could speak in his own language.

Mr. Kaulukou believed that annexation would not be for the benefit of one only, but for the benefit of the whole community.
For that reason he was in favor of it. He would support the platform as a whole.

A. J. Campbell endorsed the principles and pledged himself to support them. He had been working on their lines for years and had been an annexationist ever since the question came up.
If elected he would do all he could for the country districts.

Mr. McCandless, while endorsing the platform, said ironically he was against all trusts except the Metropolitan Meat Co. and the Ice Works. If elected he would support their principles.

Mr. Wilder had read the platform of principles, which if elected he would do his best to carry out.

Capt. Cluney thanked his friends for the nomination on this the second occasion. When he pledged himself, as he now did, he kept nothing back. They all hoped for annexation. He would like to see reliable, independent men in the Legislature, who had no strings on them.

The delegations of the two districts then went apart to ballot on the nominations for the selection of three candidates each. They returned to convention shortly, when

Mr. Dillingham presented the report of the Fourth delegation, which was that the candidates receiving the highest number of votes were Messrs. Atkinson, Robertson and Gear.
